TORRES HAS BEST OF PIERSON ALL THE JOURNEY

Local Lad Leads Fight at Cactus A. C. Through Every Round Except First But Punches Lack Steam.

By leading the fighting in every round of the contest last night, Jack Torres, the local welterweight, earned a clean decision over Charley Pierson, of Kansas City.

At no stage of the game did Pierson have an apparent advantage over Torres, while in the fifth round he was plainly in distress, and had it not been for his toughness and longing on control with Torres' look of sufficient steam to his punches, it would have been the count for the Kansas City man.

The first round was even, both men feeling the other out. Torres apparently won in some fear of mixing things too much with his opponent, but after that Torres had from the bell all through.

Pierson got in no blows that worried Torres to any extent, while Torres, with straight right jabs, left uppercuts and right and left hooks to the jaw, soon had Pierson on the defensive. Pierson's chief line seemed a straight right, and he kept repeatedly boring in with his head and clinching, in which his toughness and superior strength prevented Torres from getting the proper steam to his blows.

The battle bore striking resemblance to a fight between a splendid wildcat and a tough bulldog, with Torres, the former, and Pierson the latter, both having to back up against Randolph, of the Braves, again.

Harry Pollack, manager of Freddy Welsh, is explaining to the east why the champion called off his bout with Mickey Sheridan. "Welsh is stale and needs a rest," said Pollack, "so I've called the bout with Sheridan because he's a big, tough dude that brings them from the floor and he doesn't care whom or what he hits."

The result of the fight was plainly apparent to each Pierson's adherents after the fourth round, and the best they could hope for was that their man would finish up strong and thus prevent Torres' obtaining the decision.

However, when at the end of the tenth round Referee Fred Wilson raised Torres' arm, it was perfectly satisfactory to all concerned.

The preliminary between Young Joe Rivers and Young Chavez, a six-round contest, merely added another link to the long string already possessed by Rivers. Chavez boxed through six slow rounds by hanging on and preventing Rivers from showing his best punches. Referee Fred Ingram played his part in a manner satisfactory to all.

A crowd of some three hundred witnessed the affair, several women being numbered among the spectators.

JACK TORRES HAS NEW PILOT TO GUIDE HIM

Jack Torres has a new manager. Lewis Newman, who is handling Stanley Yoakum, has taken Torres under his managerial wing.

Torres' new business pilot has but no time in getting to work. He is arranging a match between the Albuquerquian and Eddie Johnson, of Pueblo. It will be staged, it is expected, in Denver within two weeks.

For the all-American ownership team we pick the Astors, Ward and Charles Webb Murphy.
